Andrew is a partner in our Silicon Valley office and a member of both the Venture Capital and Growth Equity Fund Group and the Corporate Group.

Andrew's practice focuses on the formation and operation of U.S. and international venture capital and other growth equity funds, representing venture capital and growth equity funds in connection with their investment activities, and counseling venture capital and growth equity funds on their day-to-day operations.

Prior to rejoining the firm in 2014, Andrew spent several years as both Operating Partner and General Counsel at BlueRun Ventures (BRV), a global venture capital firm headquartered in Silicon Valley. At BRV, he managed all operations of the firm (including legal, finance, investor relations and reporting, human resources and facilities) across all geographies (which, during his tenure, included the US, China, Korea, Israel, India and Finland). Leveraging his experience in managing the operations of a global venture capital firm, Andrew brings a unique perspective to advising investment firms.
