David is a partner in our Beijing office.

David Wang is a partner in the Beijing office of Gunderson Dettmer with a particular focus on fund clients with a China nexus. David specializes in the structuring, formation, organization and operation of China, U.S., Cayman and other international venture capital and private equity funds, and their related investment management entities. David counsels funds in all stages of their operations, and regularly advises them on fund formation and governance matters, including the preparation of offering materials, drafting of operating agreements, the overall fundraising process, compliance with securities laws, investor relations and all aspects of day-to-day firm matters. David's clients range from small, seed-stage VC firms to large, preeminent firms with billions of assets under management to individuals that require counsel when negotiating with VC/PE investment management entities.

Prior to joining the Beijing office, David spent a number of years practicing in Gunderson Dettmer's Silicon Valley office. David speaks both English and Mandarin.
