

LABOR & EMPLOYMENT

Startups and emerging growth companies rely on our experienced labor and employment lawyers for practical counsel that scales as organizations evolve. We know the issues that technology and life sciences companies confront daily. Our keen understanding of industry contexts provides unique insight: We know what it takes to anticipate and resolve issues practically and effectively. We deliver our services along with strategic business advice that helps you build world-class workforces.

We are trusted advisers. We are available 24/7 to meet the multitude of legal issues and demands that you face as you recruit, hire, manage and compensate employees. We listen and ask the right questions, so we can anticipate needs and avoid problems. We emphasize practical and preventive measures that also promote a productive work environment—one that engages and motivates employees and attracts strong candidates.

We customize HR management tools. We appreciate that a productive and healthy work environment depends on the hard work and expertise of managers and human resources professionals. We provide all of the agreements, policies and other written tools you may need and we offer training for managers and HR professionals.
