Gunderson Dettmer represented client Healthier Capital in leading the $50 million Series B extension of Hyro, a leader in voice and chat artificial intelligence for healthcare. Hyro enables health systems to safely automate workflows and conversations across their most valuable platforms, services and channels—including call centers, websites, SMS, mobile apps and more. With the additional capital raised, Hyro will be even further positioned to serve the healthcare sector’s soaring demand for responsible voice and chat AI agents, acting as a natural bridge between rising patient expectations for modernized digital services and healthcare enterprises’ resource constraints.

In the announcement of the transaction, Healthier Capital CEO and founding managing partner Amir Dan Rubin said, “Hyro’s transformational AI solution stands out in its ability to dramatically improve the patient experience, while reducing operational inefficiencies and team member burdens. At Healthier Capital, we couldn’t be more thrilled to partner with Hyro on its mission to reshape patient engagement, with conversational AI, responsibly.”

The Gunderson Dettmer deal team was led by Sogoal Salari and Ibrahim Elshamy and included Michelle Pang and Benjamin Adler.
