Gunderson Dettmer officially launched its Atlanta office in 2025 after more than a decade representing clients in the Southeast.

The Atlanta office, our 12th office globally, reflects Gunderson Dettmer's commitment to supporting fast growing tech companies and leading venture capital and growth equity investors in the region.

The Atlanta office adds the extensive experience of John Yates, Joe Berklund and Zach Crowe to the partners already focused on the market. Their extensive expertise in corporate law, venture capital transactions, and strategic growth initiatives aligns perfectly with Gunderson Dettmer's mission to empower forward-thinking companies and investors at every stage of their journey. As part of our global team, the Atlanta team will deliver comprehensive guidance to clients navigating opportunities in one of the fastest-growing tech ecosystems in the U.S.

With this new office, we also deepen Gunderson's ongoing commitment to the ecosystem and partnerships with regional innovation hubs like Atlanta Tech Village and Venture Atlanta, among others.
