

Lumu Announces Acquisition of Maltiverse

Client News

March 18, 2025

Gunderson Dettmer represented client Lumu, a cybersecurity company pioneering Continuous Compromise Assessment, in its acquisition of Maltiverse, a Spain-based threat intelligence company specializing in curated threat feeds and malicious indicators of compromise (IOCs).

Lumu's acquisition of Maltiverse enhances its cybersecurity capabilities by providing deeper threat actor insights, enriched compromise context, and a stronger ability to proactively mitigate risks. Additionally, the move establishes Lumu's foothold in the Iberian region, paving the way for strategic expansion across Europe.

In the announcement of the acquisition, Founder and CEO of Lumu Ricardo Villadiego said, "Cybersecurity is an intelligence-driven challenge, and the acquisition of Maltiverse allows Lumu to deliver even deeper threat visibility and response capabilities. By integrating Maltiverse's expertise in threat intelligence with Lumu's real-time compromise detection, we are not only enhancing our current offering, but we are also doubling down on our commitment to the market: helping organizations of all sizes and verticals operate cybersecurity proficiently.

The Gunderson deal team was led by partner Joe Berklund and counsel Alex Weaver and associate Matt Miehl.
