

Datalinx AI Announces $4.2 Million Seed Financing

Client News

January 29, 2026

Gunderson Dettmer represented Datalinx AI, the AI data refinery that turns complex data into AI and application-ready assets, in its $4.2 million seed financing. The oversubscribed round was led by High Alpha with participation from Databricks Ventures and Aperiam.

Datalinx automates and streamlines the discovery, cleaning, validation, and activation of commercial data, giving marketing and data science teams faster, more reliable, and predictable performance for their AI initiatives. The company will use the new capital to scale its operations and meet the surging demand for AI-ready data infrastructure.

“You can’t reap the benefits of AI innovation on a foundation of broken data,” said Joe Luchs, CEO and co-founder of Datalinx, in the announcement of the transaction.

“We’re providing the first agentic data utility, designed to bring enterprises clean, actionable, and performant data products with minimal work and full transparency. By automating this complex, domain-specific process, we allow enterprises to shift their focus from fixing data pipelines to growing their business through AI.”

The Gunderson deal team was led by Andy Bradley and included Adam Spaulding and Megan Wiener.
