Client News

June 8, 2026

Gunderson Dettmer represented Lexful, an AI-native, secure IT documentation platform built exclusively for managed services providers (MSPs), in its $7 million seed financing led by Top Down Ventures and York IE.

Lexful plans to use the new capital to accelerate research and development, expand its global presence, deepen ecosystem integrations, and invest in partner enablement to support MSP growth at scale.

“We built Lexful to fundamentally change how MSPs capture, use, and operationalize IT documentation and knowledge in the AI era,” said Lexful CEO Pinar Ormeci, in the announcement of the transaction. “The momentum we’ve seen since our phased launch validates the urgency of the problem. This seed round reflects the work our team has put in and the power of an AI-native approach. This funding allows us to build on our AI-native documentation foundation as we accelerate our vision for what knowledge operations should look like in the AI era.”

The Gunderson deal team included Alex Weaver, Sam Collier, and Zach Crowe.
